

Alejandro (Alex) Armstrong

Alex Armstrong is a dedicated healthcare leader with 14 years of experience as a strong advocate for the underserved populations in California. He served as the Chief Executive Officer at Alliance Medical Center located in Healdsburg, CA with five-clinic sites, and as Chief Operating Officer for QueensCare Health Centers in Los Angeles. Alex also served on the Board of Redwood Community Health Coalition (RCHC), a regional consortium of safety-net provider.

Alex was born in Mexico and moved to the rural community of Santa Maria, California when he was six years old. He was one of 5 students out of 300 in his high school graduating class who went on to college. While his earlier background in financial services was not the typical career path for an FQHC Leader, Alex made a conscious decision to get off the corporate ladder in the banking industry and work in an arena where he could make more of a difference in the community. Alex holds a Master's in Business, Corporate Finance from the University of Southern California and a Bachelor's of Arts in Business Administration/Marketing from Loyola Marymount University in Los Angeles.
